Conduct Your Blooming in the Whip of the Whirlwind: A Celebration of Gwendolyn Brooks

By Evelyn C. White

The first Black author to win the Pulitzer Prize, Gwendolyn Brooks (1917–2000) was a powerful poet and community activist. White will discuss her personal and professional encounters with the pioneering figure in American letters.

Thursday, September 25, 2.30–3.30pm

Slonaker Living Room
1027 E 2nd St

Evelyn C. White is the author of, among other works, Alice Walker: A Life (WW Norton, 2004). She is passionate about okra.